

Impacting lives through

Foster Care

At age 18, foster teens are forced to live independently. Without support, many often end up homeless, jobless, and addicted to drugs.

"It's a deep call to love the orphans, to provide for the orphans, and help them become champions in life and give their lives to Christ," Bobby Canipe said.

Canipe established Fostering Champions to improve the lives of aging out foster teens. This Rocky Mount ministry provides meals, clothes, transportation, education, jobs, and, more recently, a home to foster girls.

Thank you for giving through Vision Virginia to significantly enhance the lives of foster care children.
