

MISSIONARY HIGHLIGHT: June 9, 2019

Josh & Sarah Cook
Denver, Colorado

We know Denver, Colorado, is a beautiful city with mountains all around, a mile high and all of that. Today, though, we want to pray for two of our missionaries — Josh and Sarah Cook — who have moved there with their daughter and started a new church, so more people there can hear the Gospel and come to faith in Christ.

Their new church is called Dwell Church and for now they're still meeting in a school building in central Denver. They love visitors at Dwell — their web site says the church is “supernaturally welcoming.” What a great way to put it!

Leading non-religious people to talk about spiritual matters takes time. Josh and Sarah make friends with neighbors so they can talk about Jesus Christ. Sometimes people with good jobs, fine families and good lives still need friends, the Cooks have found. Their church is growing.

Our church supports the Cooks financially through our Cooperative Program giving and now we want to support them with our prayers.
