“But when I thought how to understand this, it seemed to me a wearisome task, until I went into the sanctuary of God; then I discerned their end.” — Psalm 73:16-17 (ESV)

“Why?” may be one of the most common questions asked of God. “Why did God allow this in my life?” “Why did God let that happen?” “Why didn’t God stop this from happening?” Hardship in our broken world is a common experience for us, and we wonder why God doesn’t intervene when we know that He could.

There are no easy answers to these questions, but we can be sure that the answers are only found in the presence of God. The writer of Psalm 73 struggled “until [he] went into the sanctuary of God,” and then he started to understand. When we are struggling with hardship, our instincts often lead us to isolate and pull away from God and His people.

But when we are asking “Why?” is exactly the time we need to be in God’s presence. We need to be in the sanctuary of God. If you are struggling with difficult questions, get yourself to church and in the presence of God and His people.
