Drop Your Waterpot
Daniel J. Palmer

In John 4, we read about the Samaritan woman who goes to the well “to draw water” (v. 7). While there, she encounters Jesus the Messiah (v. 25–26) who confronts her sin (v. 16–18) and tells her about “living water” (v. 10, 14). Meanwhile, Jesus’ disciples had gone “into the city to buy food” (v. 8). As the disciples satisfy their hunger with what they can purchase, Jesus tells the woman about thirst-quenching water that only God can give (v. 10). As the woman understands who Jesus is, the disciples realize they had forgotten to bring Jesus a meal (v. 33). The disciples have had more experiences with Jesus, but it is the unnamed woman who has truly experienced Jesus. She is so captivated by Christ that she leaves behind the water she had come to draw from the well. She “left her waterpot” (v. 28a). Before she goes to the city for Jesus, she finds the satisfaction she really needs in Jesus. How about you? Is your work for Jesus fueled by your satisfaction in Him? Perhaps, today is the day to return to the well, drink of Christ, and drop your waterpot.
