Weary — does this describe how you are feeling? It is how many people in Christian service feel. Serving is synonymous with being a Christ follower (Mark 10:42-45), but serving is hard. It is tiring, and, sometimes, it is thankless. God, in His sovereignty, knew that we would face these challenges, so He inspired the apostle Paul to pen these words to all would be servants. “And let us not grow weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.” (Galatians 6:9)

“Well doing” means beautiful, honorable, and valuable, which, by the way, is from God’s viewpoint. Our service to the Lord is the most valuable use of our time and effort. Not only does God hold your service in high regard, but He will also reward you for it. At a fixed and definite time, we will enjoy the fruit of our labor. However, at times, it may feel like all we do is plow and plant, only the arduous part of the cycle, which can cause us to get discouraged and even quit. God gave us His word that we would harvest what we plant. So, don’t quit.
