

Is Your Missions Engagement Enduring?

PETER HESS

What is God like? God is faithful. In praise to God, Psalm 136 repeats this refrain: “for his steadfast love endures forever.” That means God enduringly fulfills His promises to His people. Shouldn’t our service in the cause of missions reflect the character of the God we serve?

Churches must plan to be engaged in the missionary task for the long haul. Our commitment to missions cannot simply be a passing commitment made at a missions conference, which falters shortly after the excitement of the conference ends. If our missions engagement is to reflect God’s character, it cannot be ‘fair weather’ engagement. Setbacks will occur. People we love and support will struggle. Some will stumble. Satan will assault God’s work, and Satan will assault those who sacrificially promote God’s work. But we know that our God is faithful — “His steadfast love endures forever.” The God who rescued us from sin, Satan and death so that we might serve Him will see us through as we endure in our commitment to the Great Commission.

June 28, 2020
Devotion

 Coordinates with Resources: 6D

Is Your Missions Engagement Enduring?

PETER HESS

What is God like? God is faithful. In praise to God, Psalm 136 repeats this refrain: “for his steadfast love endures forever.” That means God enduringly fulfills His promises to His people. Shouldn’t our service in the cause of missions reflect the character of the God we serve?

Churches must plan to be engaged in the missionary task for the long haul. Our commitment to missions cannot simply be a passing commitment made at a missions conference, which falters shortly after the excitement of the conference ends. If our missions engagement is to reflect God’s character, it cannot be ‘fair weather’ engagement. Setbacks will occur. People we love and support will struggle. Some will stumble. Satan will assault God’s work, and Satan will assault those who sacrificially promote God’s work. But we know that our God is faithful — “His steadfast love endures forever.” The God who rescued us from sin, Satan and death so that we might serve Him will see us through as we endure in our commitment to the Great Commission.

June 28, 2020
Devotion

 Coordinates with Resources: 6D