

When God Makes Us Whole Again

SERGIO GUARDIA

In June of 2002, I visited Muñiz Hospital of HIV patients, in Buenos Aires, Argentina. I was granted access to spend time with patients in the terminally ill section. I found a man who was in his thirties. He was alone and dying. I started a conversation with him to find an opportunity to share the Gospel. When I asked what he wanted the most, he replied, "I want peace, that is all I want."

The word peace in Hebrew is shalom, it means whole or complete. When challenges happen like poor health, marriage problems, or unemployment, our shalom is broken and needs to be restored. In the Bible, when shalom is restored, relationships are brought back together. Rival kingdoms work together.

I introduced to this dying man the Prince of Peace and how, in spite of his broken health, he could be made whole again. This man obtained the peace he so much desired when he gave his life to Jesus. I see this man again one day in an eternal Kingdom of peace.

Isaiah 9:6-7 "For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end."
