

Prayers for my Children

The most precious gift that I will ever give to them. When we pray for our children, God's Spirit empowers us to pray for their needs. Lamentation 2:19

I pray that my children will.....

- Will experience saving faith (thankful if they are saved)
- Will never experience a time when they do not walk with God
- Will develop a Hunger for the things of God
- Experience a Growing independent Faith
- Experience a Persevering Faith
- Will maintain good Family relationships throughout their life
- Will attract Godly Friends and Role Models
- Will have God's hand of protection from physical harm
- Will be strong and healthy in mind, body and spirit
- Will have a sense of destiny (purpose)
- Will have a desire for Integrity
- Will have a Call to Excellence
- Will understand God's ministry for them and their spiritual gifts
- Will hold Christian Values and beliefs - A Biblical Worldview
- Will be a faithful steward of Time, Talent and Treasure

Going to Battle for My Children
John 15:7, Matthew 12:29, Lamentations 2:19

Prayer is acknowledging and experiencing the presence of God and inviting His presence into our lives and circumstances.

Prayer not only affects us, it also reaches out and touches those for whom we pray.

We don't have to be worried over the life of our child. We can start right now making a positive difference in our child's future. Whether they are 3 days old and perfect or 30 years old and going through their third divorce, it is never too late to begin praying for your children. At every stage of their lives, our children need and will greatly benefit from our prayers. Our children's lives do not have to be left to chance.

The battle for our children's lives is waged on our knees. When we don't pray, it's like sitting on the sidelines watching our children in a war zone getting shot at from every angle. When we do pray, we're in the battle alongside them, appropriating God's power on their behalf. If we also declare the Word of God in our prayers, then we wield a powerful weapon again which no enemy can prevail.
